

Many in the KSU family and across America are justifiably angry and hurt by the most recent events unfolding in Georgia, Minnesota and beyond. I know that I am not alone at my university in stating unequivocally that there is no room for the existence of or the tolerance for any form of racism. Let us move forward together with a sincere commitment to a constructive dialogue where we listen respectfully with a goal toward real change. Let us move forward with compassion as we recognize that we are collectively responsible for pursuing real change.
